On Monday, June 27th Associate Member Ting-Wey Yen, D.D.S. gave a member focus talk to the Executives Association of Long Beach during our weekly networking luncheon. Dr. Yen is not just a dentist he is a highly trained Prosthodontist who was brought in as Dr. Fasnacht of Beach Heights Dentistry as an associate member and partner in 2016.

Dr. Yen was raised in Africa and lived there until he finished high school at the age of 13. At age 14 he moved to America to go to college at UC Santa Barbara. At age 22 he was one of the youngest graduates from Northwestern University Dental School. After the mandatory 5 years in practice he received an award for being the youngest Prosthodontist to become Board Certified.

While Dr. Yen is very skilled at what he does and is one of the few capable of helping patients in very dire circumstances, he stresses the importance of prevention and maintenance. He would rather you use a night guard, maintain a healthy rinse routine and do regular maintenance than come to him for major repairs. Your teeth have a life span and once certain events take place there is no going back.

Some of Dr. Yen's specialties include:

- Esthetic/Cosmetic Dental - New teeth, widen jaw
- Smile Rejuvenation - Small or hidden teeth can be transformed to a better smile
- Maxillofacial Prosthetics - A man lost his eye to cancer and Dr. Yen sculpted a new socket for him out of wax and clay that was made into a prosthetic for the ophthalmologist to insert a false eye into. He looked normal again after the surgery healed. It was an amazing transformation.
- Dental Implants - Congenitally missing teeth or teeth knocked out can be replaced with an implant. He almost never makes a bridge anymore.
